Hello from: The Desert Cancer Foundation of Arizona

In collaboration with The Creative Literacy Project we are offering local businesses, merchants, and residents an opportunity to participate in a special charitable giving experience while helping to develop literacy skills in our community's young people and providing a fun and educational experience to children and families who rarely get such opportunities. The Creative Literacy Project allows children to go online, select a book, and then, based on their interpretations of the illustrations provided by TCLP, the child will author their own original story thus making the resulting book a treasured, one-of-a-kind family keepsake.

If you would like to sponsor a book for a child or family in need, please log onto: www.CreativeLiteracyProject.com and select the "Give the Gift of Literacy" link at the top of the homepage. This link will take you through the process of purchasing one or more literacy gift certificates for a special child or, for a particular group or a needy family in our community. For every $30.00 gift certificate purchased, TCLP will donate $5.00 back to our organization so that we may fulfill our role in providing important and necessary services to our community.

You can also help us in our fundraising efforts by participating in this very creative project with your children or grandchildren. You will love the resulting book and it is sure to become a treasured family keepsake. This one-of-a-kind book features your child's name as the author on the front cover, a dedication page where they can dedicate their book to a loved one or a special friend, and an author's biography page with their picture and a short biography written by them. Your child's special book also makes great gifts for loved ones and close family friends!

Important reminder: When purchasing your gift certificates or your personal copies of your child's book please select
